

Systemic Constellation Work with Stephen Busby for your Personal Issues, or for Practice in the Systemic Approach

Sunday, 8 January, Oberbiberg / Oberhaching (south of Munich) in English language, 9h30 - 17h30

Tuning-in in Meditation (optional) saturday evening from 7-8pm

Systemic constellation work is a way of identifying and releasing deep patterns within living human systems. The approach honours the profound multidimensional nature of reality, where complex webs of interconnections that transcend time and place become apparent. The work is based on whole-field and somatic principles and the practice of presence as a catalyst for higher consciousness. It demonstrates how sensitively exploring subtle movements within energetic fields simultaneously produces effects elsewhere. This reveals hidden information and consequences beyond those we usually perceive. With care it generates openings, insight and often healing. We are enabled to see, feel and understand how unresolved issues from the past play out in our lives, with immense implications for our development.

There will be space for each of four people to work with Stephen, using the whole group to constellate a personal or professional issue that is uppermost in her or his life. In addition, participating in this work as an observer or potential representative is equally moving and healing, and constitutes essential somatic practice for those interested in deepening their relationship to subtle energy work or wishing to learn from Stephen's specific approach to Constellation work.

Active participants	180€
Passive participant (representative)	45€

I have known Stephen for maybe four years and have participated in several seminars and workshops and lately in 2016 in a 10months intensive online training in Higher Consciousness work. I am grateful for his deep and sensitive teachings and his wide systemic approach. It is always a pleasure and a blessing to work with him.
